Storm Ties Up Antioch for 2 Days

Electric Light and Power Off When Wind Breaks Wires

ROADS ALL IMPASSIBLE

Antioch was directly in the path of the most severe storm of the winter which started with an easterly gale that swept across the county from late Sunday evening until Tuesday morning, leaving in its wake a snow that drifted from six to eight feet in various places, making automobile and train traffic almost impossible, and shutting off the light and power in the village all during the storm and up to 7 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The largest drift in the business section was a seven-foot drift in front of the Zimmerman soft drink parlor, which made the road impassible until partly shoveled away.

Less Crandall started for Grayslake Tuesday morning on his daily trip to bring pupils to the high school, but had to practically shovel his way through the drifts and arrived back in Antioch at 10 a. m., getting only as far as Leon Lake.

Charles Vogel started for the 8:39 train on Monday evening and the first drift encountered his Ford Sedan was stuck fast and had to be shoveled out Tuesday morning.

The terrific wind snapped the electric light wires in the early hours of Monday morning and employees of the Public Service company started walking along the main lines from the power plant at Grayslake and reached Antioch shortly before six o'clock in the evening before the break was found. It was repaired immediately, and light restored for about an hour, when another break plunged the village into darkness again, and was not repaired until Tuesday evening.

The two-day loss of power and light played great hardship on the business and workshops. The Milling company and the machine shop, as well as the mechanical departments of the garages and other shops were out of operation. The type-casting machine at The News office was forced idle and not one line of this issue was started until the resumption of the power, but the speed of this great type-casting machine, enabled in the output of our regular paper in less than eight hours.

The telephone service was not hampered.

The storm that hit in Wisconsin about 30 miles north of the state line, is considered the worst in forty years. Snow in places drifted from 11 to 15 feet high.

Chesney Farms Presents H. S. With Duroc

At the Chesney Farm Duroc Jersey sale on Jan. 25th the agricultural club of the Antioch high school was presented with a bred sow. Another one was purchased by Harry Peetzke, a student at the high school. Both sows occupy the new colony houses on the school farm. Louis and Elmer Barthel are running a breed sow project on the school sow at present. Both sows are to be well taken care of and their litters, if large enough, will be entered in the ton litter contest this spring.

The two flocks of poultry have gone through the cold weather of January and are in a fairly good condition for laying this month. The Barred Rocks have laid some during the cold weather.

All is in readiness for the spring work. Plums are being laid for the cultivation of three-quarters of an acre of cold resistant Golden Glow corn. This seed is being introduced into this community upon recommendation of university authorities. This corn has yielded 173 bushels per acre in a corn contest two years ago.

20 Years Ago in Antioch

Thursday, Feb. 4, 1904

A pleasant home wedding was that of Miss Maude King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson King of Hickory, and Mr. George DeForest of Russell, which was solemnized at the home of the bride at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening of last week. More than 60 gathered to witness the ceremony and to attend the wedding reception which followed. The bride and groom are well known and they have the best wishes of hosts of friends for a long life of happiness. They will make their home near Russell.

Fred Klarade transacted business in Chicago Monday.

As the ground-hog has seen his shadow and the coal bin is running low, we would invite those who are in arrears on their subscription to this paper, to call in settle or send in what is due.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shiley were Chicago visitors on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Williams and son Harold visited over Sunday in Chicago.

There is a good prospect of two more rural delivery routes from Antioch being established in the near future.

Miss Addie Schuler was a Chicago passenger Friday morning.

At the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nadr, on Thursday evening, Jan. 23, occurred the marriage of their only daughter, Marie Anna, to Fred T. Hamlin.

Miss Mora Orvis of Camp Lake and Mary Sheen were Trevor callers Thursday.

E. L. Bradley was a Chicago visitor on Monday.

D. R. Manzur and wife visited their parents here Sunday.

Mrs. Eck Lewis was a Chicago passenger Monday morning.

The Misses Laura and Ruth Williams of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents at this place.

Mrs. H. C. Patrick and daughter were Willmot and Randall visitors Wednesday.

Many Sales Are Listed for Next Week

Among the auction sales that are attracting interest next week is the sale to be held on Friday, February 15th, on the farm known as the Old McVicar Farm, located 3 1/2 miles northwest of Bristol, on the Plank road. At this sale there will be offered forty head of livestock, consisting of cattle, horses and hogs. A large quantity of feed and grain and farming implements will also be offered to the highest bidder. The sale will start at 12:30 o'clock and L. H. Freeman will be in charge of the selling. Delore Hould is the proprietor.

There will be an auction sale on the farm situated 1/2 mile east of Grange Hall corner, 4 miles southwest of Grange and 5 miles east of Grayslake on Thursday, Feb. 14, commencing at 10:30 o'clock. Lunch will be served at noon. Farm of 100 acres will be divided and sold in 10 and 20 acre lots, good buildings, all personal property, including 4 extra good horses, Holstein cattle, feed and machinery. Farm to be sold before lunch. Rex Turner is proprietor, and L. J. Stearn will do the selling.

On Saturday, Feb. 16th, will occur the sale of the property of W. Cull and Henry Faden on the farm known as the Cull farm, situated 2 miles north of Salem and one-half mile south of Klondike corners. 132 head of livestock, 200 chickens, an extra large amount of feed, hay and grain and a complete farming outfit will be disposed of at public auction. This sale will start at 10 a. m. and luncheon will be served at noon. L. H. Freeman is the auctioneer.

There will be a sale on the farm known as the Tschert farm, situated 5 miles south of Bristol and 1 mile northeast of Pikeville, on Wednesday, February 20th. Eighteen head of choice Holsteins, three horses, about 200 chickens, geese, ducks and a large amount of feed and grain, and all the farm machinery and smaller articles used for farming will be sold. The property is owned by J. M. Johansen and will be sold by L. J. Stearn. The sale starts at 11:00 a. m. Luncheon will be served at noon.

"To That Undiscovered Country from Whose Bourn No Traveller Returns"

Born December 28, 1856

Died February 3, 1924

"I am ready to go!" With those words—words that recalled the same indomitable spirit, courage, which characterized his great career and won him undying world fame—former President Woodrow Wilson closed his eyes to this vale of tears and passed into the land of eternal rest. Indeed, he faced death as bravely as any soldier on the battlefield.

And so "Fins" is written to one of history's most glorious chapters—the life's story of one of the greatest statesmen of all times. His climb from a comparatively unknown professorship at Princeton to the highest honor this nation can bestow; from the plain daily routine of a private citizen to victoriously leading the world's most powerful nation in the most stupendous conflict this universe has ever known and, perhaps ever will know—were deeds of supreme triumph that only a truly great man could have achieved. And they are a matter of record as a brief description of Woodrow Wilson's great public career.

Mr. Wilson—in the words of the immortal Lincoln—had "dared to do his duty as he understood it."

And the nation, as it mourns him today, echoes— "His was a duty nobly done."

His was a life worth while.—P. & A. Photo—Copyright, 1924, Bennett Brown, Chicago.

Frank J. Green Elected to Head Milk Producers

The Milk Producers held their annual meeting in the ball room of the La Salle hotel Monday, and to say the house was "packed" is putting it mildly. The business session was run through in good manner, considering the size of the house, but there was plenty of noise.

A hotly contested fight took place for the presidency. President Holt had his forces pretty well lined up for his reelection, but not quite enough. Frank J. Greene of Woodstock, a farmer and mayor of that town was presented by the opposition as the man to supplant Holt and he succeeded in nosing Holt out by 8 votes; the ballots showing 349 for Greene and 341 for Holt.

Census of opinion seems to point very favorable toward Greene. His countymen were with him to a man, and had nothing but the best to say of his character and ability. T. J. Lyons, a Mr. Trieger and T. J. Stahl of Waukegan were elected vice-presidents. William Krampus of Cook county was elected to the treasurer'ship.

Quite a few local men were on hand. Among them were Charley Shiley, E. O. Hawkins, B. F. Naber, Louis Kunkalk, W. D. Dunning, Frank Scott, C. Crowley, Leslie Perry and Mr. Stanley, labor organizer from Waukegan.

P. T. A. MEETING POSTPONED.—The Parent-Teachers' meeting of Monday night was postponed. There will be no meeting until the next regular meeting in March.

Chas. E. Blunt Present H. S. With Relics

Gift Includes More Than 1000 Pieces of Antiques

Mr. Charles E. Blunt has presented to the high school his collection of Indian relics consisting of several thousand pieces. It is one of the finest collections in the state. Most of the specimens were found on Mr. Blunt's farm. Each piece is numbered and catalogued, showing where found, when and by whom.

The collection consists of spears, arrows, axes, hatchets, ceremonial tribal paint grinding stones, a well as petrifications, meteors, shells, corals and various other formations. He will also present his library of a dozen or more volumes to be used in connection with this collection. During the spring months Mr. Blunt will give a series of lectures to the students and possibly one or more to the general public. He has made a hobby of this work for over fifty years and can speak with authority on this topic.

The seniors who graduated last June have provided a beautiful case in which to house the specimens. Mr. Blunt and Mabel Van Dusen, the class president, installed the specimens in the new case last week. Appropriate presentation ceremonies will take place in the near future.

TRUSTEES POSTPONE MEETING.—The Village Board postponed its meeting to be held last Tuesday evening to tonight (Thursday).

Our Invitation

Present this clipping for admission at the Crystal Theatre, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 13th.

The Antioch News invites as its guests, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Panowski to witness next Wednesday's presentation of "The Lavender Bath Lady" starring Gladys Walton, at the Crystal theatre.

Each Wednesday evening The Antioch News will present tickets to the names announced in the above space. Watch for your name to appear, then clip out the notice and present it at the Crystal Theatre. It will be your admission ticket. Read the announcement next week, as you probably may be next.

WILMOT CHICKEN FARM BURNS

On Monday evening the chicken farm of William Frazier in Wilmot was destroyed by fire, with a loss of about 2,000 chicks, incubator and three chicken houses. The fire started when a lamp in the incubator house overturned and the flames quickly enveloped the structures due to the strong wind of Monday night. About six months ago the barn of Mr. Frazier's was burned to the ground with an estimated loss of $8,000.

ANTIOCH ATHLETIC CLUB PLAYS BASKETBALL FRIDAY NIGHT

The Antioch Athletic Club will meet the Regner A. C. of Kenosha Friday evening at the Antioch high school gym. The local squad have been playing together for some weeks and have a mighty good aggregation in Willard Chian, Sheehan, Sullivan, Konlman and Barthell. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Many Sign for Chain O'Lakes Park

Meet at Woodman Hall on Monday to Discuss Recreation Plan

MR. HULIT IS SPEAKER

About forty merchants and interested parties around Antioch attended a meeting Monday afternoon in Woodman hall held for the purpose of acquainting the citizens of Antioch of the proposed gigantic Chain O'Lakes Park project.

Mr. Hulit, the general superintendent and originator of the entire proposition, was the speaker of the afternoon. His talk on his life's aim in conservation of wild animals was interesting. He told his audience the interesting way in which after a search throughout the country for a spot suitable to fulfill his ideal he finally landed in the Grass Lake region.

His description of the possibilities of the development of this vast area into a recreation park and the benefits that will be derived from it by the surrounding country sounded like a page from Grimm's Fairy Book, but nevertheless it all looks perfectly true in the face of facts and figures submitted by Mr. Hulit.

His presentation of possible drawing power of this vast project was not in the least enlarged on, in fact Mr. Hulit omitted the one million people or more that live in the radius of 60 miles to the west, north and east of this chain of lakes, especially available through the system of good roads throughout lower Wisconsin.

Mr. Hulit explained the purpose of home associate membership, and the benefits to be derived from it. His scheme of free publicity in the advertising in the Chicago papers is unique as well as well worth the price of an associate membership.

The interest that this movement has created elsewhere was brought out when Mr. Hulit cited one incident of the class of business that had approached the officials for space. He told his hearers that the cement companies of the United States had selected a committee of five men to locate the most advantageous position to erect an exhibition of the possibilities of cement. He stated that this committee had applied to the association for 40 acres in the proposed park for its site.

His scheme for propagation of fish was listened to with interest by those present, for all realize the value of good fishing in the lakes. Mr. Hulit pointed out the large number of activities that would be enclosed in the Chain O'Lakes Park, and pointed to the character of the chairman of committees. He explained how these chairmen are each to head a committee of ten, each to select his own committee. He pointed out as a sample the character of the committees being selected, illustrating the one on goats. The first person he named was Mr. Stevens, owner of the La Salle hotel, and owner of the magnificent new Stevens Building now being erected in Chicago. Along with him he named another member of this one committee, Mrs. James A. Patton, wife of the man known as the "wheat king." Mrs. Patton's war record runs second to none, and her charitable and social work to day is enormous. Her name attached to any project spells success.

C. W. Alger and Mr. C. L. Ayres were introduced by Mr. Hulit and each explained the financial problems of the association.

Many of the merchants signed up for membership at the meeting and practically all expressed themselves satisfied with the proposition and would sign up. Stops are being taken to acquaint other merchants and property owners of the surrounding territory of the necessity of their help to push this Chain O'Lakes Park to a completion. The applications are to be had at Brook State Bank.

A full page advertisement appears in this issue of the News. Read it carefully, and if you are interested further information will be gladly submitted by the officials of the association.

Of Interest to Antioch Farmers

Timely topics and local news concerning stockmen, poultrymen, gardeners and dairymen. Edited by C. L. KUTIL

FARMERS NOTICE

A half dozen farmers have already tested their soils for sourness and over a carload of lime ordered. Any one wishing to have their soil tested where they intend to sow alfalfa next spring please bring soil to C. L. Kutil at the Antioch high school and receive a free test. Your soil may not need lime, but if the test shows that it does you can at least join with the others and have a few tons shipped in. Your immediate attention will be appreciated by the high school. Frozen soil is all right and can be tested now.

GLEANINGS FROM THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Forty tons of lime have already been ordered through the agricultural department of the Antioch High school. More orders are expected soon. The department is prepared to test one hundred sample of soil to see if lime is lacking. It may be that your soil needs lime to make alfalfa grow.

The Antioch Milling Co. presented Mrs. Chas. Alvers with an additional sack of Antioch Best Flour. Mrs. Alvers won first premium on white bread. She used Antioch Best Flour.

Many premiums were won by members of the agricultural classes at the high school. This shows that the young farmers are interested and fully capable to compete with their fathers.

C. L. Kutil wishes to thank all exhibitors who left exhibits for school use. These are needed and always appreciated. As no one reported bringing in the largest load of people to the institute, the Adams Lumber Co. gave the premium of a 100-lb sack of Globe Scratch Feed to the agricultural club of the high school. Many thanks.

HUGHES DEMANDS

A FOLLOW-UP

We had a very successful farmers' institute last week. A good attendance, interesting speakers, with a message in which they belatedly, and which I think most of us do not seriously doubt. The theme of one of the speakers was "Alfalfa," and seemed to show that lack of lime was chiefly responsible for many alfalfa failures, or poor stands or poor yields. We have had other speakers at other pay your taxes, and any benefits you times who dinged-donged about lime for alfalfa and clover, yet in spite of all make of it is your due, and the more this, so far as I have been able to learn, there has been only three cars of agricultural limestone applied in the township. It is probably true that Lake county has less land difficulty in lime than any other county in the state.

We all grow alfalfa and yet a real good field of alfalfa is a rarity, and if lack of lime is the cause of this rarity we have no one but ourselves to blame for it.

Now, fortunately, it is a simple matter to determine with a fair degree of accuracy whether a soil lacks lime or not, and how much lime is needed to correct this deficiency.

Lack of lime limits legumes, especially alfalfa, in two ways. One way is directly, that is, not enough lime in the soil to supply the needed amount to produce a maximum crop of alfalfa. Indirectly by permitting a soil to be sour and thus making it an unfavorable place for the nitrogen fixing bacteria to live with the alfalfa and thus take nitrogen from the air for the plant.

The surface soil always contains less lime than the subsoil, and it is growing less year by year. This probably accounts for the fact that it is getting harder and harder to grow clover and that it is often possible to grow a fair crop of alfalfa, where it seems impossible to get a stand of clover, since alfalfa is a much deeper rooted crop and can get its lime from the subsoil and grow a small to fair crop, being limited by a lack of nitrogen rather than a lack of lime, due to the fact that the surface soil being sour, the nitrogen fixing bacteria cannot thrive there and because they must have air they cannot thrive in the sweet subsoil.

Now the agricultural department of the high school would like to test a sample of the surface soil of every field in the community where it is intended to sow alfalfa, clover or sweet clover this spring, to see whether it needs lime or not.

The cost of lime enough to remedy any lack of it will invariably be less than the cost of the seed you sow, and sowing seed on a very sour soil is money thrown away.

If many of these samples show a lime deficiency can we not get in a few carloads and spread a ton or two at least, where tests show a lack of lime.

Your high school costs you real money, as you will realize when you pay your taxes, and any benefits you can get from it and any use you can make of it is your due, and the more use you can make of it and the greater benefits you can derive from it the better, not only for you but for the students, the agricultural course, the school and the community—A. G. Hughes.

COW ARITHMETIC

"I am not strong on arithmetic," said the cow, "but I can add to the bank account of the man who owns me; I can subtract from the principal of his mortgage; I can multiply his chances for success; I can divide his cares and worries; I can give more interest to his work, and I can discount his chances for loss."

Bristol News

Mrs. John Jones is again under the doctor's care, and in charge of Mrs. Chumley, a nurse.

Mrs. Ed. Fox, who has passed several weeks nursing her aunt, Mrs. Kearns, of Kenosha, was home Sunday for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schovel of Kenosha were visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Tillotson, Sunday.

Mrs. James Tory is suffering with a sprained ankle on account of the slippery walks last week and it is feared she may have sustained a fractured bone.

Joe Maleski returned from Kenosha hospital Saturday.

Miss Ella Gitzlaff is returning from Telephone central, and her sister, Miss Lean, will take her place.

Mrs. Peto Hansen also had the misfortune to slip and fracture a bone.

J. W. Shottliff accompanied his brother Fred to Milwaukee Tuesday.

Mrs. Mattie Bolton, who has been in a sanitarium for several months on account of ill health, returned this week very much improved, and expects to keep house for her brothers this summer.

The funeral of James W. McVicar was held from the Bristol M. E. church last Wednesday. Rev. Steen officiating. He was born in Brighton township July 16, 1873, where he lived until about a year ago when he moved with his family to Kenosha, where he was living at the time of his death. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and eight children, an aged mother and two sisters, all of Kenosha, and a brother, H. E., west of the village of Bristol. He was laid to rest in the cemetery where his father was buried several years ago, just west of the brother's home.

Miss Hazel Peter of Chicago was visiting our school last Thursday and Friday.

If Abe Lincoln were alive he would have spent his birthday with the rest of the folks in the A. T. H. S. auditorium. He would have been there at 7:30 so he could get a good seat.

Last Tuesday the elementary public speaking class cleaned up the typing room.

The freshmen are now studying about literature and life in English.

Do you know?

That we have 55 freshmen.

That we are offering 34 separate courses and that in eight of these are either two or three sections of each, making a total of 45 class exercises per day?

That it would take a student six years if he were to complete all of the courses that we offer?

That this is the first year in the history of the school that the manual training class has had a suitable room in which to work?

That we have the best Indian relic collection in this part of the state?

That we have an appropriate case in which to display this collection?

That Mr. C. E. Blunt has presented this collection to the high school so that everyone in the community may enjoy them?

SEED CORN TESTING LOW

The seed corn outlook for this spring is serious. Tests made all over northern and central Illinois show a low germination of the seed selected last fall on most farms. The early frost, much wet weather and below zero temperatures have caused considerable damage to seed corn. The condition is the worst since 1915 when seed corn cost up to $10.00 and $15.00 per bushel. This is a matter to look into at once, now that there is time to do it. A good way is to take 100 kernels from about 50 ears of corn for a general test, a first, then later to test each ear. The Farm Bureau will make general tests for members so as to make a survey of the situation in Lake county and will be glad to have members bring samples to the office or mail them for testing to us. Simply take 2 or 3 kernels each from 40 to 50 ears for this test; just so they represent a fairly large number of ears.

Men Who Get Statues.

It is the men who attend to our business the way we want them to instead of attending to their own who get the statues.

Where Cork Will Sink.

A cork sunk 200 feet deep in the ocean will not rise again to the surface, owing to the great pressure of the water. At any less distance from the surface, however, it will gradually work its way back to light once more.

"STEADFAST HEART" SCENES MADE IN HISTORIC TOWN

The exterior scenes of "The Steadfast Heart," showing at the Crystal Theater, Sunday, were made at Frederickburg, Va., unquestionably one of the most historic towns in the United States. Such great Americans as George Washington, John Paul Jones and James Madison were born or lived within the town's area. It has furnished seven presidents of the United States; namely, Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Harrison, Tyler and Taylor.

In addition to this the first resolution declaring the independence of the United States was passed in Frederickburg.

And last, and by no means least, the man responsible for the success of the invention of the first motion picture camera, Thomas Armat, was a Frederickburg product.

In spite of all this, until the arrival of "The Steadfast Heart" company, Frederickburg had never been used by a picture firm as a location.

DUROC ASSOCIATION POSTS TON-LITTER PRIZES

Association again is cooperating with the college of Agriculture in furthering Illinois Ton Litter club work by offering $250 in cash premiums for county and state winners this year. The different prizes and the conditions under which they will be worded follow.

1—$50 to apply on expense of a trip to farmer's week at the University of Illinois, if the heaviest litter in the state is sired by a registered Duroc-Jersey boar. This premium will not be awarded unless used for the purpose specified, by the person winning it or his son 16 years old or over.

2—$20 in cash to each of the ten heaviest Duroc litters in the state, exclusive of the champion litter, that win the county championships in their respective counties. If the state winner does not qualify then the county offer will apply to 12 counties in the state.

3—To qualify for either state or county prizes, litters must be sired by registered Duroc boars and weigh at least a ton in 180 days.

4—Rules governing the contest as approved by the state leader of the Illinois Ton Litter Club must be complied with fully.

5—Photographs of the winning ton litters at finishing time will be required together with a report giving the record number of the sire in every case.

6—Premiums will be paid at the conclusion of the contest as soon as all record are received.

7—Notice of the acceptance of premium offers heretofore mentioned must be sent by the county club leader to the National Duroc Record Association, J. R. Pfander, secretary, Peoria, Illinois.

Machete and Hoe.

The only implements used by most of the native farmers in Portuguese East Africa in cultivating corn, kafir corn, peanuts and beans are the machete for clearing the ground and a short-handled hoe instead of a plow.

Largest Drum.

Believed to be one of the largest instruments of its kind in the world, a drum with a diameter of eight and a half feet was recently used in a London picture theater to imitate the firing of cannon.

The Grape Cure.

The "grape cure" is practiced in Switzerland by persons who are troubled with gout or liver diseases. The time they spend among the grapes of St. Peter's, above Vevey, or Bexles-Bains, seems to benefit and calm patients. The juicy white grape of Switzerland is most beneficial because of its easily digested skin.

Miss Gracey Calhoun of Council Bluffs, Ia., has spent the past few weeks as the guest of Elizabeth Jarvis.

Miss Marie Nadr was removed to Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan last Wednesday to have the benefit of the better accommodations there and is holding her own, but is still seriously ill.

Mrs. C. J. Jarvis returned home last week from Chicago where she has been taking hospital treatment, and is convalescing at her home here.

Capt. and Mrs. E. L. Bradley spent a couple of days last week in the city.

The Allendale boys defeated the Lake Forest boys in a game of basketball last week at Lake Forest. E. Thayer took them over.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pester and family enjoyed a rest home dinner with the Geo. Gooding family at Grayslake on Sunday a week ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sheehan visited relatives at Ingleside last week.

Mr. E. Thayer made a business trip to Silver Lake and Trevor one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Donnelly and Miss Alice of Chicago spent a couple of days last week at their Sand Lake home.

Alvin Dixon who has spent the past ten weeks or so with his parents in Florida returned last week and is helping his brother Harold in the store.

Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer and children were in Waukegan Saturday.

Arthur Lyvers went last Friday to Chicago to meet his father and from there was to go on to Elgin to attend the Elgin Academy for the remainder of the school year. The Boy Scouts of which he is a member gave him a party at the home of Lester and Gordon Hamilton on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Paul Avery visited her mother at Grayslake last Wednesday.

Mrs. Hendricks of Ingleside spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. S. M. Sherwood and attended the M. W. A. and U. N. A. installation Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Lawe, accompanied by Mrs. Pierce of Millburn spent Saturday in Chicago.

The Woodmen and Royal Neighbors installed their officers at the Barnstable hall last Tuesday evening and spent a very enjoyable evening. The Woodmen served a splendid dinner from 6:30 to 8:30, when the Royal Neighbors formed for installation. District Deputy Jeanie Chilstrom of Evanston was installing officer for the Royal Neighbors and Lella Barnstable was ceremonial marshal and did the work in a very pretty manner. After the R. N. installation, Mrs. Chilstrom was presented with a pair of hand embroidered pillow cases, and Lella Barnstable was presented with a pair of hand embroidered guest towels. The orator, Georgia Avery and vice orator Marie Hamilton were presented with gold pieces as a small appreciation of their services. The Woodmen had James Korr and Albert Kappeler as installing officers. Mrs. Herbert Nelson was musician for the evening. Short talks were given by Mrs. Chilstrom, Mrs. Hendricks and Mrs. Griston. The Woodmen will hold their next meeting on the last Tuesday evening in February and the Royal Neighbors already have a number of applications for benefit certificates to apply on the Speedway drive now in that order.

QUALITY WILL PAY

POULTRY MEN—HARPER

"Illinois poultry keepers will be paid higher prices in 1924 if they market quality eggs and poultry," declares J. D. Harper, in charge of Poultry and Egg Marketing for the I. A. A. in a communication to the Lake County Farm Bureau. "This is in spite of the fact that the general trend of prices for eggs is expected to be lower this season because there have been great losses on storage eggs the past year."

"At a meeting in Chicago recently of the National Poultry, Butter and Egg Association with government marketing officials, buyers from all over the country, unanimously favored the adoption of plans whereby eggs would be bought from the farm on the basis of quality. In other words, higher prices will be paid for uniform graded eggs than for ungraded lots of eggs such as are now ordinarily marketed. Illinois buyers are showing very favorable interest in the plan."

Mr. Harper says that Farm Bureau members should plan now to take advantage of these quality prices for eggs and poultry. "The most pernicious evil in the present marketing of these products is the common practice of nearly all grocers and butchers to pay a flat price per dozen for all grades of eggs and poultry," he says. "This is obviously unfair to the producer who really tries to market high quality products gets no higher price than the man who sells with no regard for quality."

Uniformity of breed is the starting point for uniform products that can be easily graded, Mr. Harper says. "If the majority of poultry keepers in a community or a county would cooperate and agree on a standard poultry breed which all would raise, the first big step would be solved in the efficient marketing of poultry products," he declares. "The central poultry and egg markets would be eager to pay a premium for quality graded products from such a district."

We received a generous supply of cocoa, sugar and soup for our hot lunches.

Last Wednesday Floyd Labeno unfortunately received a severe cut across his face. His many friends are anxiously awaiting his return to school.

We have done our spring house cleaning already. Reading circle work is progressing nicely. Caroline Larvin, Russel Longman, Lyle Mathews and Clarence Runyard have finished reporting on five books. Elva Marks and Myrtle Micklo are assisting Miss Ender with the hot lunch.

The Custard Cup

by
Florence Bingham

COPYRIGHT BY GEORGE H. DORAN COMPANY

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Living in a barn converted into a dwelling, Mrs. Penfield is manager of an apartment building known as the "Custard Cup," originally "Custard Court." Her income is derived from laundry work, her chief patron, being a Mrs. Elizabeth Weatherston, whom she has never seen. Living with her are "Crink" and "Thad," homeless small boys whom she has adopted. They call her "Penzie," Thad tells Penzie a strange man was inquiring for her under her maiden name.

CHAPTER II.—A tenant, Mrs. Gussie Doolley, induces Penzie to take charge of a package, which she does with some misgivings.

CHAPTER III.—Searching a refuse dump for things which might be of value, Crink, veteran at this game, encounters a small girl, Lettie, who proves a foamsa worthy of his steel. He takes her to Penzie, and Lettie is adopted into the family.

CHAPTER IV.—The stranger proves to be Mrs. Penfield's uncle Jerry. He announces he is going to remain in the vicinity of The Custard Cup.

CHAPTER V.—Uncle Jerry arranges to occupy the loft above Mrs. Penfield's abode.

CHAPTER VI.—Uncle Jerry meets Prudence Hapgood, no longer young, but still attractive, and the two appear to "hit it off" well. Lorena Percy, young friend of Penzie, tells her of her engagement to Dick Chase, also a mutual friend.

CHAPTER VII.—Friendship developing between Uncle Jerry and Frank Bosley, husband of Quasie, worries Penzie.

CHAPTER VIII.—Calming a tenant, Mrs. Sanders, on the verge of a nervous breakdown, Mrs. Penfield reveals the tragic story of her own life, the sudden loss of her three children in an epidemic and the subsequent death of her husband.

CHAPTER IX.—Lettie's pet aversion to The Custard Cup has long been a certain Mr. Josiah Wopple, and the animosity culminates in a physical encounter in which much water is spilled.

CHAPTER X.—Dick Chase confides to Mrs. Penfield that his fiancée's stepmother, Mrs. Percy, by pleading physical helplessness, is seeking to prevent their marriage. Penzie skillfully exposes Mrs. Percy's sham, and the latter is forced to withdraw her objections.

CHAPTER XI.—The domestic difficulties of the Bosleys become a matter of gossip among the other tenants of The Custard Cup.

CHAPTER XII.—Lettie, having subtly discovered her beloved, Penzie's distrust of Frank Bosley as a companion of Uncle Jerry, denounces Bosley and appeals to Uncle Jerry to give up the acquaintance. They laugh at her.

CHAPTER XIII.—Endeavoring to prevent the marriage of Lorena and Dick Chase, Mrs. Percy succeeds in badly damaging Lorena's trousseau. Mrs. Penfield, by the hardest kind of work, repairs the damage, and the wedding takes place.

CHAPTER XIV.—Remarks let fall by Mrs. Bosley leave Penzie in utter bewilderment as to the relations between Uncle Jerry and the Bosleys. Uncle Jerry is evasive in his explanations.

CHAPTER XV.—In the absence of Penzie, Lettie "entertains" Prudence Hapgood and Uncle Jerry, with disastrous results.

Feeling chafed, Lettie went back into the kitchen. But at least there was no danger of immediate departure, since a story was in progress. She got out the popper, a large dish, the salt. Crink did not come. She grew more and more impatient. Presently she softly opened the door into the living-room again and peeped in with great caution.

Miss Hapgood wasn't crocheting now. Her work had fallen in her lap. She was looking at Uncle Jerry, with an expression of absorbed interest, and there was a lovely shell pink in her cheeks. Lettie had never seen her look like that. Uncle Jerry was talking, but Lettie paid no attention. She was thinking about Miss Hapgood. She edged into the room. "Are you having a good time?" she began conversationally.

Prudence jumped, fairly clutched at her work. Uncle Jerry frowned heavily.

"Lettie, clinging to the role of hostess, smiled genially. "You look awful interested in each other. I guess you will."

"Lettie, didn't I tell you—"

It was Uncle Jerry's voice—a severe voice, too, but Lettie scarcely listened. She stepped in front of Prudence.

"Miss Hapgood," she said confidently, "ain't it a funny thing, the way your cheeks got all colored up when you talk to Uncle Jerry? Penzie's don't. Sometimes she talks to him a long time, and she don't ever—"

"Oh," gasped Prudence in pitiable confusion, "it's only because—because he was telling about—"

Her delicate hands fluttered in distress.

"Shaw! Don't get so nervous," advised Lettie briskly. "Ain't nothing to make you nervous. Just make yourself at home."

She was very sure of the correctness of this phrase, it being much thought of in The Custard Cup, and she was therefore hugely astonished when she felt a firm hand on her shoulder, a hand with compelling force that switched her about and marched her toward the kitchen.

"Do think of you, talking to a lady that way!" spluttered Uncle Jerry. "You'd better stay in the kitchen till you learn manners."

"My landy goodness!" gasped Lettie, turning her thin shoulder and glaring wrathfully at the closed door into the living-room. "I'd like to know what made him so cross. And we being extra pleasant, too! Well, by jiminy!" she snapped. "I'll bet I can feed a lady if he don't think I can talk to one."

Crink came in with the corn, and Lettie prodded the fire till the top of the stove was hot. Gradually she forgot her rebuff in watching the corn in the popper.

"Fill Caesar," she remarked, casting a reflective eye on the small, eager dog, who was gazing at her with vibrating hope, "you may's well get out. I don't scarcely have you'll get a bit of this here corn—less you divide the old mounds with Bonnie Geroldine. Crink, take this popper and I'll get the dishes. What say let's—"

"I'll bet Penzie'll like to have us use them little glass dishes that come with the cowpops. It's gotta be some'n small, 'cause land knows there won't no feller get many kernels."

She passed the popper to Crink and dragged a stool in front of the apple-box cupboard beside the stove. The glass dishes, being very choice, were in one of the upper boxes, behind the spices. Lettie began moving the spice boxes to another shelf.

"Oh—oh!" she shrieked. "I dropped one. Pick it up, quick! Oh! Quick!"

But neither child could be quicker than the spice box had been. It had fallen on the stove. When it struck, the cover flew off. A liberal quantity of cayenne pepper spread over the hot stove, and instantly a spiral of black smoke arose, like diabolic incense. An acrid odor filled the kitchen; a stinging permeation assailed nostrils and throats.

"Oh, ain't that the darndest— Oh! Murder! Help! Help! Come! Come along! Quick! Oh!"

Fill Caesar coughed madly, leaped into the air; then dashed into the open. Crink dropped the popper, spilling the precious corn over the stove and floor. Coughing and sneezing, he and Lettie made frantic dashes at the stove with spoons and shovel, trying to remove the popper, but their efforts only spread it more thoroughly. With every breath they drew in biting fire.

Uncle Jerry and Prudence, frightened by the uproar, burst into the kitchen, and with lightning response to the all-pervading stimulus, joined in the general sneezing. At the same moment, Mrs. Penfield came flying through the house and swooped down upon her distracted family with energetic command.

"Get out of the house, everybody," she cried.

Jerry Winston sprang forward and transferred the hot griddles to the end of the stove. Mrs. Penfield snatched a towel, wet it under the faucet, and held it to her nose while she drenched the fire and opened the windows.

The tortured family and the tortured guest fled to the back yard, fighting the red-hot misery that clung in their throats, breathing in great breaths of the cool air that soothed and indamed at the same time.

"O Penzie," wailed Lettie, danceling about in agony, "I—honest to goodness, I was—was trying to entertain—Miss Hap—"

She sneezed.

"It's—It's all right," choked the guest. "I was never more—more—cheerful!"

Uncle Jerry coughed violently. "It's a blaining—schweezo!"

"Honest, Penzie," protested Lettie, with streaming eyes, "I was trying to—please you. It—it was an accident."

Mrs. Penfield shook her head sadly. "I never saw anything like the way you're always around if there's an accident ready to happen. I wish I knew how to keep you out of the way of 'em."

CHAPTER XVI

Lettie the Inventor.

The young Penfields were in council. Christmas was only a week off, and it was no longer to be ignored. They had been craftily watching for signs of mystery, but the testimony of all three was flat and without hope. "I hadn't never had a Christmas," contributed Thad.

"I hadn't, neither," countered Lettie shortly, "and I'm twice as old as you—mebbe more. We hadn't none of us had a Christmas."

"Yes, I had one," admitted Crink, proud of the fact and yet regretful to detract from the record of woe. "I was with Penzie last year, and we had a pretty good time, but there wasn't no tree. Seems as if," he added, with a sidelong glance at Lettie, "seems as if now there's three of us, we'd oughter have a tree."

He had the greatest faith in Lettie, having seen her put through more than one scheme, that gave little promise of success.

And immediately she caught the inevitable connection between three children and the spreading branches of a fir. She shook her black curls violently. "We gotta," she declared.

"Yes, we gotta," echoed Crink, with strengthened hope.

"Boys, we're gonta," continued Lettie vehemently.

"Yes, we're gonta," chirruped Crink. "We're gonta," piped Thad joyously.

"What's the big plan, children?" inquired Mrs. Penfield, coming in with a delicate blouse, freshly ironed, which she adjusted on a newspaper hanger tied to a line across the corner.

"Christmas!" exploded Lettie.

"Oh!" Mrs. Penfield rested her weight wearily on one foot and gave the children a look of troubled reflection.

"We want a tree and presents and—everything," explained Crink.

"Oh, my dears!" The words were heavy with distress. Then Mrs. Penfield pulled herself together and became expansively optimistic. "I'll tell you what I thought. I been planning that we'd have a fine day, and I'm going to make us a grand bread pudding. Uncle Jerry brought us a whole sack of stale bread last night; he got it to a bakery, cheap, and I'm tickled to death. I'm going to try out a lot of it in the oven, and it'll keep for weeks. We'll have bread pudding and codfish scallop and—"

"I would make stuffing," put in Crink eagerly.

"In some families it would, Crink, but we don't have nothing to stuff—except ourselves. But 'bout Christmas—"

If You Notice An Increase In Your Light Bill

Please remember that last summer it was eight o'clock or later before you used electric light.

If the evening was pleasant and you sat on the porch, perhaps you only used the light a short while before bedtime.

But now, when days are short, electric light in some part of the house is needed before 5 o'clock in the evening.

And, too, on winter mornings electric light is necessary from the time of arising until after breakfast.

That's why there is a slight increase in electric light bills during the fall and winter.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Forecasting A Tremendous Spring Demand

739,626

more Ford cars and trucks were produced last year than the previous year, an increase of over 50 per cent.

In spite of this tremendous increase in production, it was impossible to meet delivery requirements during the spring and summer months when orders for 350,000 Ford Cars and Trucks could not be filled.

This year winter buying for immediate delivery has been more active than ever before—and in addition 200,000 orders have already been booked through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan for spring delivery.

These facts clearly indicate that the demand during this spring and summer will be far greater than ever, and that orders should be placed immediately with Ford Dealers as a means of protection against delay in securing your Ford Car or Truck or Fordson Tractor.

High School Wins Game From Warren

Antioch's basketball team chased the jinx that has been pursuing them all season and stepped into the win column at the expense of the fast-traveling Warren high school team at the local gym last Friday evening before a large audience by an 18 to 14 score.

Antioch took an early lead when Gillette fouled and Nelson made the free throw and two more points were added shortly after when Willett made a field goal, and Nelson added another free toss. Welsh of Gurnee made a field goal and Dixon added a free throw before the first quarter ended, at which time Antioch held a four to three advantage.

In the second quarter Willett and Nelson each made a field goal and Tiffany a free throw while the Antioch guards were holding Warren to two points, which were made by Gillette on field goal, ending the score at first half 9 to 5.

Antioch kept up there scoring during the third quarter by scoring five points, while Warren failed to score, bringing the score up to 14 to 5. Warren, in the last quarter, started a spurt and in quick order, two baskets by Champeny and one by Welsh and Gillette brought the score up to 14 to 13, but only a few seconds later Almburg, who took Willett's place in the last quarter, made a beautiful toss from the center of the floor for two more points, a free throw and a basket by Nelson put Antioch safely in the lead again. A few seconds before the final whistle Gillette tossed a free throw, ending the scoring. The lineup:

Antioch:	Warren.
Nelson	Gillette
Willett	Welsh
Lubkeman	Champeny
Tiffany	Eddy
Hook	Dixon

Substitutes—Almburg for Willett, Paddock for Lubkeman, Worth for Dixon. Baskets—Nelson 3, Willett 2, Tiffany, Almburg, Gillette 2, Champeny 2, Welsh 2, Free throws, Nelson 2, Willett, Tiffany, Dixon, Gillette. Referee, Jordan.

After holding a 6 to 0 lead at the end of the first half, the Antioch second team lost to the Warren seconds by a 14 to 7 score, in the preliminary game. The home boys were travelling at a fast pace until the last half when Warren replaced Worth, who later started in the big game of the evening, at guard. He was altogether too strong for the youngsters and shortly after the opening of the last half made two baskets within a few seconds and encouraged the visiting team to such an extent that they soon had the Antioch team snowed under. Cass was the main cog in the Antioch machine during the first half, while Worth was the whole show for Warren.

When the Kettle Sings.

When the water in the kettle boils the kettle is filled with steam, which attempts to escape. The spout is a comparatively small opening, and the pressure of the steam becomes great enough to cause the singing or whistling sound as it rushes through it.

FARM RELIEF BILL

ENDORSED BY I. A. A.
At its January 31 meeting in Chicago, the Illinois Agricultural Association endorsed the intent and purpose of the McNary-Haugen Bill, an emergency measure designed to establish a fair relation between what the farmer sells and what he buys. The one restriction to the endorsement was that the bill be amended in such a way as to be more in harmony with the purposes of farmers' cooperative associations.

This bill contains many of the features of the Wallace wheat export plan which Lake county farmers who attended the I. A. A. meeting at Galesburg will remember was discussed but not endorsed. However, that convention urged "the consideration and passage of such laws as are economically sound and that have for their purpose the relief of agriculture and the stabilization of prices."

"As I see it, this bill is a national compulsory pool, the whole cost of operation being charged to the farmers," said President Thompson of the I. A. A. during the discussion of the bill by the committee. "It is not paternalism but does take care of emergencies."

"There is no doubt," he continued, "about the condition of agriculture. Any number of good farmers have had to lay down their tools and quit business. The livestock farmer is winding up 1923 in a worse condition than a year ago. I don't, as a rule, believe in political remedies, but this bill looks like an honest effort to overcome the emergency problem. Its chief purpose is to give a bushel of wheat the same buying power it had in the pre-war days."

In speaking of the bill, Vice-president C. B. Watson, DeKalb, said, "There are protective tariffs for industry and immigration laws to protect labor. Agriculture also needs adequate protection."

TO RUN A NEWSPAPER

To run a newspaper all a fellow has to do is to be able to write poems, discuss the tariff and money questions, umpire a baseball game, report a wedding, saw wood, describe a fire so that the readers will shed their wraps, make $1 do the work of $10, shine at a dance, measure calico, abuse the liquor habit, test whiskey, subscribe to charity, go without meals, attend free silver, wear diamonds, invent advertisements, sneer at snobbery, overlook scandal, appraise babies, delight potatoe raisers, minister to the afflicted, heal the disgruntled, fight to a finish, set type, mold public opinion, sweep out the office, speak at press meeting, and stand in with everybody and everything.

Formation of Coal.

The general theory regarding the formation of coal is that it results from the decomposition of vegetation in swamps under tremendous pressure at a high temperature. The first state is peat; second, lignite; third, bituminous; fourth, anthracite, and the final state is graphite.

Alaska Thinly Settled.

Alaska, with an area one-third greater than the Atlantic states, has no more white residents than there are office workers in any one of several skyscraper buildings of New York city.

Sedative for Departed Spirits.

The friends of the dead in China beg permission to burn gaudy pasteboard images of men and cattle, shaped in crinkled paper, on the spot where the dead lie. The ceremony is a mark of respect and is believed also to act as a sedative on the departed spirits.

Knows Why.

Who so well fitted to tell a man the road to business success as he who has failed—if he knows why he failed?

Auto Supplants Camel.

The automobile has supplanted the camel as a mail and passenger carrier over the hot sands of Arabia. The car makes the trip in four hours that required an entire day for the usual camel caravan.

Things Men Do.

We are accustomed to see men decide what they do not understand, and snarl at the good and beautiful because it lies beyond their sympathies.—Goethe.

GREAT INTEREST IN RESULTS OF SYRUP USED BY NOTED DOCTOR

Your liver is an organ that controls the way you feel. When working as Nature intended, it purifies your blood, aids digestion and nourishment and prevents constipation. When it needs to be cleansed and toned, you often wake up dull and tired and frequently suffer from one or more symptoms, such as coated tongue, bad taste, offensive breath, sick headaches, poor digestion, gas on sour stomach, colds or a run-down nervous, upset condition.

Get quick relief! Try just a spoonful of Dr. Thatcher's Liver & Blood Syrup after the next few meals to cleanse and tone your liver and help Nature build up your system. Notice the quick difference in the way you look, eat, sleep and feel. You will be completely satisfied; otherwise druggists will return your money. Dr. Thatcher's is sold by S. H. Reeves in Antioch and by leading druggists in every city and town.

A visitor to the city had her first experience in a five and ten-cent store. Thinking she would buy her little nephew a 10-cent toy she picked out a miniature bugle and handed the clerk 10 cents.

"The bugle is 15 cents, madame," said the clerk.

"But I understood this was a five and ten-cent store."

"Well, I'll leave it to you. How much is five cents and 10 cents?"

Courtesies.

In all the affairs of human life, social as well as political, courtesies of a small and trivial character are the ones that strike deepest to the grateful and appreciative heart.

What is the man doing? Exercising? O, no! He is showing you how the fine webbing and cord back in his President Suspenders give the utmost in comfort and ease. If he would turn around you could see how nicely they make his trousers hang, and how much better this scientific support from the shoulders is for the abdominal muscles, than are tight belts. But he won't turn around—you'll have to come here and let us show you. We have a full line of President Suspenders.
